

Purpose Statement June 24th, 2015

The council provides a forum for stakeholders to consider and act upon issues affecting the health and sustainability of Stillaguamish Valley natural resources, especially recovery of salmonids through habitat restoration and conservation. The SWC is the official council for Salmon Recovery in the Stillaguamish watershed. SWC members are committed to identifying, prioritizing, implementing and measuring targeted actions that seek to provide the greatest benefits for future generations.
